

November 2006

Welcome

DHI is very pleased to welcome the participants to the 4th Asia-Pacific DHI Software Conference in Shanghai.

Over the last decade, DHI Software Conferences in Asia, Australia, Europe and North America have been the meeting place for thousands of professionals, who have shared their experiences and ideas and have provided inspiration to DHI for future software developments.

China has one of the fastest growing DHI Software user communities and one of the largest and fastest growing DHI offices. Since February this year, the DHI office in Shanghai is also hosting the “Shanghai Development Centre” (or SDC) – one of the three major hubs in the world for DHI Software development. Despite its short history, the SDC has already contributed with important new features in the coming release of DHI Software – and much more can be expected in the coming years.

We hope that you will enjoy the stimulating company of your colleagues from the Asia-Pacific region and that you will join us in making this first DHI Software conference in China a memorable one!

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'J. Bo Nielsen', written in a cursive style.

Jorgen Bo Nielsen
Director, Software Products